THANKS

Bath Fringe is managed by a co-operative committee: Arran, Briony, David, John, Kerry, Sarah, Scarlett, Steve and Wendy. Special thanks to Andy Mullett for accountancy help.
It wouldn't be possible to put this all together without the help of many other volunteers, supporters and sponsors. We'd like to thank them all, and while we're at it apologise to anyone we've missed out by mistake.
All things web – Geoff Soper, Chris Pink, Nick Steel (Xerophon)
All things FAB – Arran and the Fringe Arts Bath Team – the city's own visual arts festival. Richard White. 44AD Streets committee – Ralph, Ric, Jan, Dave, Liz, the Kilters, Izzy, Geoff and Sarah. Liz, Holly, Mark, Andy & NTC for doing the business. Marty for continued support and good wine.
All the volunteers and staff who keep events going.
Technical & production & marketing crew – Stevie, Liz and Spinner.
All at The Bell [People's Republic of Walcot]; Jan at Chapel, Widcombe Social Club. Luke & Theatre Bath; all at The Mission and at Burdall's Yard.
David and Matthew at Fake Escape; Tom at The Guild.
Local learning establishments especially Tim Vyner and 3rd year BSU Graphics students for our poster artwork.
Local media – Bath Chronicle, Bath Life & The Bath Magazine; Theatre Bath; Listomaniabath.com

Travel Info

Getting around the Festival

Bath is a small city and easy to get round on foot, but it's also well served by city buses into the evening.

Larkhall (Rondo Theatre) is on buses 6A&7, and not at all far from bus 13.

The University of Bath is on buses U1&U2

Kingswood Theatre is on bus 31 and the rare 79 & 620

The Royal Oak is on buses 5,17, 20(A/C), 42, U5, U6

Kelston Roundhill is a short walk from buses 19 & 37

Getting back late

Buses to Saltford, Keynsham & Bristol run hourly every night till 1am except for Sunday when they stop at 23.10.

Trains run back to Bristol after midnight every night, and after 1am Monday-Friday.

Trains run to Chippenham, Swindon, Reading & London until gone 10.30pm every night.

The last train to Frome via Bradford, Trowbridge & Westbury, etc. is at 23.38 Monday to Friday, and 23.27 on Saturday. Annoyingly it doesn't make it as far as Frome on a Sunday (23.28), when the last train into Somerset is 21.06.

Check for railway engineering work before consigning yourself to the last train.

Bath Tourist Information

For information about where to stay and what to do during the day in Bath (apart from going to FAB fringe art shows and supporting our advertisers and sponsors, of course) your one-stop for all the information you could need is Bath Tourist Information. And for extra convenience, Bath Box Office is in the same building!

Apocalypse

A Bright Room

Theatre Explosion

Getting venues and organisations together courtesy of our Fringe Theatre Group has brought on a massive expansion in staged drama this year, concentrated at The Mission, Burdall's Yard, and still more elsewhere – eg. The Rondo. Visiting professional Fringe-style companies cross paths with local and student work, and we're hoping for some cross-fertilisation of ideas as well as some great shows. Skip through these pages or use the Index by Artform (page 33) and you'll see some of our suggestions: and it would take a hardy individual to get to all of them.

Amuse Broche

Fringe Theatre venues with busy programmes of events, like the aforementioned Burdall's and Mission, have bars and other facilities to hang out between shows and beyond. The Café at The Mission is particularly recommended...

Student Theatre Festival

A crucial element in the explosion of theatre shows this year has been the involvement of Bath Spa Live, Burdall's Yard and the Bath Spa University Drama & Performing Arts Department. Many student shows are featured at Burdall's and The Mission, in fact so many that we thought, for clarity, we'd list them separately. Every day in this programme you'll find a short list of student shows for which full details are to be found elsewhere, particularly on the Bath Spa Live website. Check them out, there were certainly some crackers last year.

Certain other student shows (eg. those from the other Bath University) which have long featured in the Fringe programme are still here in our pages, and we'd recommend giving them a look too.

Looking After Number One

Deirdre

Theatre without The Theatre

Of course, being a Fringe, and this being the 21st Century, not all performances take place on stages or in accustomed performance spaces. Those of you who like to push the experience one step further will be glad to hear that not only are Fringe regulars Fake Escape [20:20 Vision] back with The Apocalypse (no theme too ultimate for that crew, that's for sure) on June 8-10, but this year we add Invulnerable Nothings presenting A Bright Room Called Day in environmental/immersive style from June 7-11. Both of these shows will reveal the location of the performance to you before the event or with your ticket booking. There is also a 'location' performance - Just In Case, (June 9&10) - as part of the Bath Spa student work.

Nearly as mysterious, this year's Outside! NOW!! show Looking after No.1 - a one-off creation made for Bath and for the Fringe by local people in collaboration with Natural Theatre Company and Dutch street theatre director Yvonne van den Akker - has a venue for its concluding section (see listing for Bank Holiday Monday, May 29th) but it will be starting before then at different points around the city and making its way towards the Royal Crescent for 2pm. Go out and track them down - or there may be more clues closer to the time.

Add to this the bedlam fair shows, and many performances and live events in Fringe Arts Bath (see their programme at the other end of this publication) and you could be seeing shows throughout the fortnight without going near a stage (let alone going through one).

Go for a Song

Those of us whose boat will more likely float for a musical offering will still find plenty to get excited by in the pages which follow. Extensive music programmes in The Old Theatre Royal, The Bell, new venues The Barley Mow and more recent additions The Nest and Widcombe Social Club, plus plenty of other one-offs will see shows from Britain's best jazz guitarist Martin Taylor (June 1), Bardic & wyrdfolk legend Robin Williamson (June 8), South African acappella wonders Africa Entsha (June 5), jazz/hiphop fusionists Vels Trio (June 9), the tongue-in-cheek classics of The Unravelling Wilburys (June 9), the when is a performance not a performance? conundrum of 'Think of a Song' (May 31) - and a whole lot more.

Laugh Spa

Comedy shows are also expanding this year too: three shows via Bath Comedy Festival - including Scott Capurro who was a sell-out at their own festival in the spring (June 8), a whole new strand of edgy material at The Old Theatre Royal, plus regulars like Komedica's guaranteed top-line acts at Krater Comedy Club all the way sideways to The Walcot Comedy Collective and a crop of enterprising one-offs. There's even a new Bath-connected immersive comedy company Amuse Bouche with a birthday party with a difference (party food included) (June 3)

Big 20th Birthday Party
Hedonists, party people and fellow travellers take heed:

The Bell will be celebrating the 20th anniversary of one of the Fringe's best ever parties Walcot Nation Day over the last weekend of the festival. We won't be closing the street again, sorry, but we can certainly fill the air with celebration... See our website or theirs for details nearer the day.

STROLLING PLAYS

Romantic Botanic

Supported using public funding by
ARTS COUNCIL ENGLAND

Fed up with staying indoors for your art? (especially on a lovely sunny day like today?) - well we've got just the ticket for you, several times over.

Miraculous Theatre's Romantic Botanic is an exploration of plant biology of the most intimate kind, along the way telling some new tales about familiar parts of our city. It features some of our favourite outdoor performers and the expedition leaves five times over two days (see listings for June 2&3). Please book in advance if you possibly can: numbers are limited (we may sell out) and we want to give everyone the maximum chance of being part of a small group.

Richard White is a locally-based artist and researcher who has had events in Bath Fringe before. This year he is presenting different parts of Sweet Waters, a study on foot of the legacy and structure of the Slave Business in Bath & Bristol. See listings for the last weekend of the festival and days afterwards. Richard's work is also connected to the programme (which you also hold in your hands here) of our sister festival FAB Fringe Arts Bath, who are including a number of pieces that use walking as an integral part of the work or experience. More of that in the pages at the back.

We've also revisited a previous project of ours, The Misery of Crowds, written by Stanley Donwood & performed by Ric Jerrom, and turned it into an interactive mobile experience. Download our app, click a few boxes and you're on your way for a rollercoaster ride (rollercoaster not provided) through the underbelly of our fair city. Because of the way of these things we haven't yet got clearance from the mighty tech corporations that we're not filling your mobile with malicious programming (well, not exactly), so to find it we're going to have to send you to the Latest News section of the Bath Fringe website (www.bathfringe.co.uk) where there will be a link just as soon as they've given us one.

Long time Fringe favourites Kilter Theatre didn't make a new immersive environmental show this year, they went down the pub instead. Luckily for you, you're all invited, and you will be entertained and perhaps educated along the way. Have a look out for The Pub Tour (not so hard, at 8 outings it's the most repeated show in the whole festival). Mine's a Bellringer.

And of course there's bedlam fair, Outside! NOW!! and outdoor performances in the FAB Fringe Arts Bath programme. Keep reading and you'll find them!

We've not got a Kids Festival this year - maybe another time - but there are as always a number of good value events, and even free ones, aimed at a family audience.

Bedlam Fair, for example (June 3&4) - especially in the afternoons - is designed to be mostly child-friendly (not everything, mind you...), and the following is a short list of some events aimed specifically at a younger/family audience:

Squeazy Green (May 29)

Alf the Highwayman (June 4)

Wind in the Willows (8-10 June, The Egg, Student production)

Nowadays - Family Tipi (June 10)

Youth Events

All the Journeys I Never Took (June 3)

The Last Word Poetry Slam (June 3)

BEDLAM FAIR

Avanti

The streets are paved with talent

Every year we make an especial song & dance about bedlam fair and our annual selection of street, outdoor and location theatre, because it's one of our favourite bits. This year the same but more so: we got a larger than usual grant from Arts Council England Lottery Funding and, because of the sort of people we are, we're spending it all on you - well, to be more precise, we've spent it on more and better free shows we can all enjoy.

Number 1 event is as usual Bedlam Sunday in Kingsmead Square and Saw Close all afternoon of June 3rd. Our New Work Works programme is supporting 6-8 new shows from emerging artists who will be debuting the season's new work with us, all to make sure it's at its very best when you see it. Add to this new professional work from the renowned Avanti Display, Natural Theatre, Bongo Bolero, and new-to-Bath shows from The Rajasthan Heritage Brass Band (celebrating 70 years of Indian Independence) and HURyCAN from Spain. And add again student work from Circomedia & Street to the Point, and other random late additions, and you've got an afternoon that veers from crazy to profound and back again and is a major rendezvous for outdoor arts across the SouthWest.

Saturday 2nd will see some of the same companies - especially the new ones - trying out their game bang in the centre of the city (Abbey, Guildhall, Orange Grove - see detailed Bedlam flyer nearer the date). Saturday also sees the return of the Street Performers Party event in Green Park Station in the evening, with the Rajasthan Heritage Brass Band, HURyCAN and other live shows, and then drink chat and world music DJ on into the night at the Brasserie.

Our other major outdoor arts project is Outside! NOW!! a participatory piece made by local performers, young people, performance students and professional actors, under the overall direction of Natural Theatre's Mark Bishop and with special guest input from Dutch street theatre director Yvonne van den Akker. Inspired by the 250th Birthday of The Royal Crescent, we thought we'd look below stairs and feature the servants and tradespeople who made everything work, then as now, and who are a more interesting subject (and probably more interesting to talk to too).

The show takes place on the afternoon of Bank Holiday Monday, May 29th, and though it's focussed on the Royal Crescent at 2pm, it will begin at different points throughout the city, so you'll have to go out and find them, guess cleverly, or get the more detailed bedlam fair leaflet nearer the time.

For other bedlam-related shows like Romantic Botanic, Amuse Bouche, Kilter Theatre, the FAB performance programme and more, see pages 4-6 and the FAB guide at the other end of this document you're holding.

There will be updates on the website and a dedicated Bedlam leaflet available around town before the event.

Barbarella's Bang Bang

Strikingly theatrical take on that old Gipsy Cabaret style, still coming up with new spins of the wheel since the 19th Century. A clear vision of what they want to say and the musical ability to make it work. Will appeal to Euro intellectuals, goths and plain ol' weirdos.

Bonfire Radicals

One of the myriad ways that British Folk Forms are spinning themselves in the modern world, the six B.Rads pack in influences from World, Rock and Early Music to form something that veers dangerously from the calm, considered or clever into jumping around raucously. They're really not much like anything else out there, though fans of The Moulettes and the folkier end of Prog will share aspirations.

Looking after No. 1

Celebrating the workers that built and served the Royal Crescent.

It's time to remember those without whom there would be no powder, clean sheets, lice free wigs, full bellies, warming coal or empty bed pans. The Natural Theatre Company and performers from around the SW have been working with Dutch company Directie & Co to produce an immersive treat that will titillate and transfix. Spot them pop up throughout the city as they make their way to the Grand Finale.

Mark Lewandowski Trio

The Fats Waller Project

Mark Lewandowski - Liam Noble - Paul Clarvis

Exploring the catalogue of one of the early innovators of jazz - the great Thomas 'Fats' Waller - delving into his music and bringing their own personal spin on his repertoire in the intimate trio setting. Three musicians known for their intricate dialogues and strong humour, paying tribute to another musician who had these attributes. Mixing the traditional with the modern, this trio brings a little of 1930s Harlem into the 21st Century.

Walcot Nation Celebration!

It was 20 years ago today...

Walcot Nation Day festival - run by Bath Fringe, The Bell, and key local traders - was 20 years ago on the Sunday at the end of that year's Fringe. We reckon that's a major excuse for a party. Already confirmed: an afternoon of top local live music, events in the yard, archive film showings of past local misdemeanours, pop-up art, and the unpredictable. See our website and The Bell's for details nearer the time.

FAB at Milsom Place, Milsom Street BAI 1BZ

Open 10am to 6pm daily, 27 May to 10 June, 10am to 3pm on 11 June

Our digitally-connected lives are increasingly on display for others to consume as 'diegetic' narratives. This exhibition presents diverse, contemplative art works that interrupt these narratives and prompt us to consider what relationship, if any, they have to ideas of truth and reality.

From Artists to Child's Hand

Curated by Rita Lazaro

Every picture book is in fact a "mini art gallery" and this exhibition shows the process of creating an illustration from rough sketches to original artwork and finished book. There will be workshops, storytelling and book signings too.

Welcome to Fringe Arts Bath

2017 Festival of Visual Arts!

Fringe Arts Bath Festival 2017 features Artists from Bath's ever-growing creative community alongside International Artists in an annual 17 day festival of pop-up exhibitions, events, installations and performance in empty shops, open spaces and on the city's streets.

Come along to the Opening Night Art Party Friday 26 May, all FAB venues will be open from 6pm until late, offering an exciting variety of curated exhibitions along with a great selection of refreshing beverages in our pop-up bars.

FAB17 is host to over 28 curated shows: some curious, others whimsical or ironic, often challenging and always inspiring. FAB17 will transform and breathe new life into unexpected spaces and promises to offer you a range of delights and surprises. Pick up a free FAB magazine available from all FAB venues & good cafes or visit www.fringeartsbath.co.uk for up to date info on what's happening during the Fringe Arts Bath Festival 2017.
